Speaker Bio:

Jane Cranston is a board-certified pediatric occupational therapist and nationally certified neonatal therapist with over 25 years of experience specializing in neonatal and early childhood care. As the founder of Tiny Transitions Therapy Consulting, Jane leads a practice dedicated to delivering compassionate, neuroprotective, and trauma-informed therapy services for high-risk infants and their families. Her career spans roles in Level III and IV NICUs, early intervention programs, and NICU follow-up clinics, where she has focused on feeding readiness, sensory regulation, motor development, and family education.

Jane has extensive expertise in mentoring clinicians, developing competency programs, and collaborating with multidisciplinary teams to support medically complex infants transitioning home from the NICU. She is passionate about advancing equitable, culturally responsive care and is fluent in Portuguese, Spanish, and American Sign Language. Jane is an active member of the Committee on Standards & Practice for the Texas Occupational Therapy Association (TOTA) Gulf Coast East District and contributes to professional education through presentations, mentorship, and guest lectures, sharing her commitment to evidence-based practices that center the unique needs of each child and family.
